Job Title: Product Specialist

Location: Singapore

About Us:

The client is a globally recognized leader in scientific and healthcare technologies, supporting researchers, clinicians, and innovators with advanced imaging and microscopy solutions.

They are seeking a Product Specialist to drive the adoption of cutting-edge microscopy and imaging platforms across the research, healthcare, and life sciences ecosystem. This role combines scientific expertise, customer engagement, commercial collaboration, and market development.

Key Responsibilities:

- Serve as the subject matter expert for advanced microscopy and imaging solutions.

- Conduct product demonstrations, technical presentations, and customer evaluations.
- Gather market intelligence and customer feedback to influence product positioning and go-to-market strategies.
- Organize and conduct workshops, seminars, product demonstrations, and scientific training sessions.
- Partner closely with sales, marketing, service, and application teams to drive business objectives.

Qualifications:

- Experience working with microscopy or advanced imaging technologies.
- Prior experience in applications, technical support, product specialist, scientific sales, research, or customer-facing roles will be advantageous.
