募集要項

Job Title: Regulatory Affairs Specialist

About Us:

Our client is a well-established international company operating within the nutraceutical and health ingredients industry. With a strong presence across Asia and global markets, the organization develops and supplies scientifically backed ingredients used in dietary supplements, functional foods, and wellness products. The company offers a collaborative, international working environment with close interaction across regional teams and global headquarters

We are seeking a Regulatory Affairs Specialist to support regulatory compliance and market access activities across ASEAN markets. This position offers the opportunity to work on product registrations, compliance initiatives, regulatory assessments, and cross-functional projects involving commercial, technical, and quality teams.

Key Responsibilities:

- Support regulatory affairs activities for nutraceutical ingredients, dietary supplements, functional foods, and related products across ASEAN markets.
- Prepare, review, and maintain regulatory dossiers and supporting documentation for product registrations and renewals.
- Ensure compliance with local regulations, ingredient requirements, product classifications, labeling standards, and health claims.
- Monitor regulatory developments across ASEAN markets and assess their impact on the business.
- Review marketing materials, product labels, and promotional claims for regulatory compliance.
- Liaise with regulatory authorities, distributors, consultants, and external stakeholders regarding submissions and compliance matters.

Qualifications:

- Degree in Food Science, Nutrition, Life Sciences, Pharmacy, Biotechnology, Chemistry, or a related discipline.
- 2-8 years of Regulatory Affairs experience within relevant industry.
- Familiarity with product registrations, regulatory documentation, compliance reviews, and labeling requirements.
- Exposure to ASEAN regulatory frameworks is advantageous.
