

GAPRISE Inc.

Company Description

The only company in Japan cultivating close relationships with promising start-up firms

Gaprise is a company that supports digital business, with a focus on digital marketing.

We search the world, for ground-breaking and valuable technology solutions, and present our discoveries to markets and our client companies.

Many of the technologies we handle have functions that enable deeper analysis than is possible with the technologies of our Japanese competitors, or have functions that are unique and already becoming the global world standard but have yet to gain major recognition in Japan. With our eye on the markets of the future, we commenced sales activities in 2012.

As a result of many growing companies incorporating these technologies into their businesses, we have also contributed—albeit in a modest way—to the conception and creation of new markets.

Furthermore, with partners that are publicly listed companies—such as monday.com and Riskified—or that have grown into mega-businesses by successfully procuring capital in the order of several hundred million dollars—such as Contentsquare and Yotpo—Gaprise is demonstrating increasingly stronger leadership in a diverse range of markets.

Through these endeavors, Gaprise has formed strong alliances with a number of promising start-up companies, and we are proud to be forging a unique position within Japan as a company engaged in business development.
