

Human Resocia Co., Ltd.

Company Description

In July 2016, “Global IT Talent (GIT) service” was launched for IT engineers from around the world to be active in Japan.Currently, more than 800 engineers from more than 40 countries are active.

Japanese companies’ advanced IT utilization needs are growing, and they need top talent with training, research, and practical experience in AI, IoT, big data, image analysis, data analysis, etc.

At our company, we have IT skills and a system to take in those who want to be active in Japan regardless of country of origin. In addition to visa application support, air ticket (travel expenses), and housing arrangements, through training for Japanese language and culture after you join our company, we support an environment where you can work with peace of mind.
