Munters K.K.

Company Description

A world leading supplier of climate solutions for the future

Munters is a global leader in climate solutions for mission-critical processes. We offer innovative, efficient and sustainable solutions for customers in industries where controlling temperature and humidity is mission critical. Our solutions reduce customers' climate and environmental impact through efficient resource consumption. In this way our solutions contribute to better climate, higher efficiency and reduced carbon emissions. Sustainability is an important part of Munters' business strategy and value creation.

Munters conducts operations in two business areas: AirTech and FoodTech

- AirTech
  AirTech is a global leader in energy-efficient air treatment for industrial and commercial applications. We offer solutions for mission-critical processes that require exact control of moisture and temperature, with a focus on energy efficiency and sustainable climate systems. Our climate systems also provide better indoor air quality and comfort, as well as increased production capacity.
- FoodTech
  FoodTech is one of the world's leading suppliers of innovative, energy-efficient climate systems for livestock farming and greenhouses, as well as software for controlling and optimizing the entire food production value chain. Our solutions increase productivity while contributing to sustainable food production, where strict requirements are placed on quality, animal health and food safety.
