Nakamoto & Associates

Company Description

The history of our ERP business dates back to 1993. Since then, Nakamoto & Associates have supported the rebuilding of enterprise systems for accounting, logistics and manufacturing amongst industry-leading companies as well as young companies that are growing rapidly. We learn more about these systems through our work, and we will return these insights to our customers through better service. The Company has observed the essence of consulting service, “personal growth → improvement of consulting ability → better service to clients,” and we have been repeating this process relentlessly. Therefore, I can say with confidence that our strength is our human resources.

We are committed to enabling each individual to fully realize their potential by adopting policies such as hiring without being bound by previous experience, assigning work that emphasizes development, and proactively providing overseas opportunities—especially for younger talent. Through this approach, we continue to learn that as people unlock their abilities, they naturally aspire to reach even greater heights, broaden their perspectives, and, through the challenges they face, cultivate strong ethics and resilience.

In July 2025, we became part of the Marubeni I-DIGIO Group. With access to an even better environment, all our employees remain dedicated to further self-improvement each day so that we can continue delivering superior services to our customers.
