
Berkeley House Co., Ltd.

Company Description

Berkeley House has been influencing the way language is taught in Japan since the founding of our language center and teaching method back in 1973. Today, more than 45 years later, Berkeley House is still dedicated to empowering our students through assuring they meet their language goals in high quality and engaging programs.

Berkeley House Language Center teachers have the unique responsibility of helping a variety of students who have high expectations for their language classes. We are looking for experienced teachers who know how to truly teach student centered classes and differentiate classroom instruction depending on the student. Depending on your position, as a teacher at Berkeley House, you will most likely teach a combination of students and types of classes.
