

Moomoo Securities Japan Co., Ltd.

Company Description

About moomoo Securities

moomoo Securities is an online brokerage headquartered in Shibuya, Tokyo. As part of Futu Holdings Limited, a NASDAQ-listed company, we deliver cutting-edge financial technology and advanced trading services to investors in Japan.

Futu, a leading online broker in Hong Kong, operates the securities trading app FUTUBULL, which is used by around 40% of Hong Kong's adult population. moomoo was created as the international version of this platform, giving individual investors access to financial data and tools that are typically reserved for professionals.

Through our app, we provide financial information and trading services to more than 27 million users across seven countries, establishing ourselves as a disruptive force reshaping investment norms worldwide.

Since launching 24-hour U.S. stock trading in 2023, our user base in Japan has grown rapidly. In 2024, we expanded into Japanese equities and other asset classes. Entering 2025, we are building on this foundation to further strengthen our market position and accelerate growth.

With the rapid expansion of both our business and product offerings, strengthening our organizational structure and acquiring top talent have become critical priorities. We are now seeking passionate professionals to join us in creating the most innovative and engaging online securities platform.
