

Company Description

Training professionals and supporting organizations to solve the climate crisis in Japan and Asia

The Japan Climate Alliance is a non-profit organization with a vision of a just and prosperous society powered by renewable energy.

Climate change is a global emergency. The impact of human activity on greenhouse gas emissions and land use have compounded environmental harm and created an escalating crisis. The devastation to our planet and to humanity will be immense if we don't act urgently to limit the damage. A drastic reduction in greenhouse emissions is needed if we are to stand a chance of staying below 1.5°C of warming relative to pre-industrial levels and prevent major climate disasters. The scale of the problem calls for a transformation of our energy systems and markets, and creating a zero-carbon society.
