CRESTEC Inc.

Company Description

Your Gateway to New Worlds

Since the Crestec Group was founded in 1984, we have endeavored to expand our business with a strong base in the technical documentation field as providers of everything from technical writing and illustrations for owner's manuals and service manuals for service technicians, to data formatting, translation, and printing services. With 9 branches and 4 affiliated companies located domestically in Japan, as well as a network of 19 branches spanning 11 countries, our organization can provide a wide array of services and solutions to the global market; from upstream activities such as market research and development of document production support systems, to packaging design and production, after-market services, and other downstream activities, we have the capabilities to handle all of our customers' needs.
Presently, we find ourselves awash in a sea of information as our business environment rapidly changes due to the ever advancing rate of technological innovation, greater work efficiency brought on by changes in working styles, and the growing complexities of our social infrastructures as is observable in our changing lifestyles. Because of this, it is more difficult than ever to organize and manage information. Given these circumstances, with "Global Communication "Your Gateway to New Worlds""as our slogan, we endeavor to be an organization that can provide new services and solutions that will connect people to people, people to products, and people with the rest of the world in order to contribute to the creation of a society that is more enjoyable and comfortable for everyone.
