Company Description

At MA-tek, you will find the latest in electronics, materials, and manufacturing processes and learn to understand the processes of the semiconductor industry.

Join our pioneers at the forefront of global development!

MA-tek was the first company to use the advanced facilities of the Taiwan Instrument Center to assist industry developers with their research and development by verifying new products, researching and developing new materials, and investing in a variety of cutting-edge equipment. We provide customers from across a wide range of industries with the most up-to-date services in analysis and product design. We offer our customers the best support for everything from manufacturing to packaging and testing, helping them become more competitive in the global market.
