TOYO CORPORATION

Company Description

Toyo will contribute to the further development of the Japanese manufacturing industry by thoroughly putting the customer first on a global basis

We are a machine and tool trading company established in 1955. In Japan, centering on Aichi Prefecture where our head office is located, we have expanded globally from Hokkaido to Kyushu, and overseas to North and Central America, Europe, and Asia.
Our basic philosophy is that "a company should exist in dependence on society and contribute to its sound prosperity. As a trading company, we will introduce to our customers a wide range of excellent products from around the world and contribute to the realization of a sustainable society while giving due consideration to the global environment and human living conditions.
To realize this goal, we will thoroughly pursue the customer-first principle. We will sincerely consider the basics of our corporate activities: how we can satisfy our customers and lead to the biggest profits to them while facing customers squarely, and promptly put them into practice.
In addition, we are committed to the 6Ss (Seiri, Seiton, Seiso, Seiketsu, Shitsuke, Shikkari), which are not only to improve the work environment, but also to foster awareness of the need to enhance work efficiency throughout the organization by encouraging employees to be creative in improving efficiency through cleaning activities and to communicate and share the improvements with other employees. Ultimately, we will create a positive spiral that leads to the provision of new values that contribute to higher business efficiency and productivity for our customers.
