

株式会社LX Semicon Japan

Company Description

LX Semicon has grown over the past 20 years through the development of various technologies and products that customers require in line with the development of the display industry. LX Semicon won't give in to complacency at this stage and will become a solid and robust company that's unaffected by outside influences by fostering R&D talent and advancing innovative technology. Additionally, LX Semicon is committed to becoming a company that grows together with our partners and local communities by offering distinctive values derived from constant challenge and innovation to our customers. LX Semicon would appreciate your generous interest and support for us, which is transforming into a global-leading system IC company.
