

Matsuo Electric Co.,Ltd.

Company Description

Since our founding in 1949, we've aimed to leverage technology to meet customer needs. We were the first company in Japan to manufacture and sell film capacitors in 1957 and tantalum capacitors in 1959. In keeping with our corporate motto of "Quality First," we've continued to respond to the demands of the times through reliable technology. In 1994, we launched a chip-type circuit protection component that was even more compact than competing products at the time. Today, our main products include tantalum capacitors and circuit protection components, along with film capacitors, and we remain committed to delivering products and services that meet our customers' evolving needs. Our mission is to contribute to society by providing high-quality products and services.

In a rapidly changing market environment, we embrace flexibility and innovation, incorporating new technologies and ideas as we continue to evolve. Our vision is to become the best possible partner for our customers, and to that end, we will continue to focus on improving both quality and service.
