

CELSYS, Inc.

Company Description

Celsys, Inc., a comprehensive role in the creator economy market, doing everything from supporting content creation to providing spaces for creators to share their work. With their mission of "Creating a more passionate world," they aim not only to support creators but also to spread passion globally through the content that is created. Ultimately, they strive to build new communities and foster connections that cross generations, borders, and cultures.

A defining feature of the company is its ongoing commitment to providing solutions closely tailored to creators' needs. They are actively building environments that support creative work by offering tools like the animation production software "RETAS STUDIO" and the versatile app "CLIP STUDIO PAINT," which is used for illustrations, comics, Webtoons, and animations. Additionally, through their "CLIP STUDIO" service, they run a web community designed to help and support creators in their daily activities.

Their business is built around two main pillars: production support and distribution support. In terms of production support, they provide tools like "CLIP STUDIO PAINT," "RETAS STUDIO," and the hardware accessory "CLIP STUDIO TABMATE." For distribution support, they offer the e-book solution "CLIP STUDIO READER." Furthermore, by planning and developing services specifically for creators, they provide various platforms for creators to engage in their work.

Looking ahead, Celsys plans to expand its reach across the entire creator economy market by leveraging the strengths they've built with "CLIP STUDIO PAINT" and their e-book solutions. By developing and launching new services in the creator platform sector, they aim to further energize creators' activities and drive the growth of their own business.
