

Griffith Foods K.K.

Company Description

Griffith Foods is a purpose-driven, family-owned global product development partner that has been at the forefront of the food industry for over a century. Founded in 1919 by Enoch Griffith, the company has evolved from a small laboratory in Chicago into a multinational leader operating in over 30 countries. Their enduring success is rooted in a unique philosophy: "We blend care and creativity to nourish the world." This purpose guides every aspect of their operations, from the way they source ingredients to how they collaborate with the world's largest food processors, retailers, and food service operators.

The core of Griffith Foods' competitive advantage lies in its "Culinary-inspired, Science-driven" approach. By maintaining a global network of Innovation Centers, they bring together diverse experts—including food scientists, sensory researchers, and professional chefs. This interdisciplinary collaboration allows them to translate complex consumer insights into delicious, functional, and scalable food products. Their extensive portfolio includes custom seasoning blends, sophisticated coating systems, functional sauces, and texture solutions. In recent years, they have emerged as a leader in the alternative protein sector, developing innovative ingredients that replicate the taste and texture of traditional meat while adhering to plant-based requirements.

Sustainability is not just a corporate social responsibility initiative at Griffith Foods; it is an integral part of their business strategy. Through their "Creating Better Together" platform, the company is committed to making a positive impact on both people and the planet. They have set rigorous goals for 2030, focusing on regenerative agriculture, carbon footprint reduction, and improving the livelihoods of smallholder farmers within their supply chain. For instance, their commitment to 100% sustainable sourcing for key ingredients like pepper and palm oil demonstrates their leadership in ethical business practices.

With a presence on six continents, Griffith Foods manages to maintain the agility and values of a family-owned business while delivering the scale and consistency required by global brands. Their workforce of approximately 5,000 employees is united by a culture of integrity and innovation. As consumer preferences shift toward healthier, more transparent, and sustainably produced food, Griffith Foods is uniquely positioned to lead this transformation. They don't just provide ingredients; they provide the expertise and vision necessary to build a more resilient and nourishing global food system. Their long-term perspective ensures that they remain a trusted partner for companies looking to innovate responsibly in an ever-changing marketplace.
