

Gresham Technologies

Company Description

Our Mission

We exist to make enterprise data automation simple for your business.

Our culture is rooted in a steadfast commitment to developing true domain expertise. That enables our teams to consistently transform the complexities of mission-critical data operations into simple workflows that empower you to focus better on your own customers.

Our greatest asset

With experts located across the world, we bring diverse perspectives and round-the-clock support to our clients.

We believe that people, both our employees and our clients' teams, are at the heart of any successful data transformation. Our human-centric approach, combined with our technical expertise, allows us to forge strong partnerships and deliver solutions that not only meet but exceed our clients' expectations.

Unparalleled blend of talent

Across major financial hubs including New York, London, Luxembourg, Sydney, Singapore, and Bangalore, our client service teams work in seamless collaboration with our world-class engineers and data scientists, many of whom have backgrounds in leading financial institutions. This unique combination allows us to not only understand the intricacies of financial data but also to build innovative, scalable solutions that address the sector's evolving needs.
