CALLIGARIS JAPAN Y.K.

Company Description

Calligaris Japan was established in 2005 as the Japanese branch of the world-renowned Italian furniture brand "Calligaris." The story of Calligaris began in 1923 in Manzano, a small town near Udine in northeastern Italy, with a single chair called "Marocca," crafted by Antonio Calligaris. This chair featured a traditional wooden frame with a hand-woven straw seat. Over the past century, the company has continuously evolved through relentless innovation in both design and technology. Today, it has grown into a global powerhouse with a presence in over 100 countries and hundreds of retail locations worldwide.

Our core philosophy is encapsulated in the phrase "My Life, My Style." We respect the individuality of every homeowner and strive to provide a harmony of beauty, functionality, and high quality in a form accessible to all. The Calligaris product lineup is extensive, ranging from our iconic chairs and dining tables to sofas, beds, storage units, and interior accessories such as rugs, mirrors, and lighting. This diversity allows for a complete, integrated coordination of the entire living space.

Calligaris design always stays close to the changing lifestyles of modern times. While based on a sophisticated contemporary style, we excel in skillfully combining various materials, including ceramics, metals, recycled plastics, and FSC-certified wood. In particular, our unique mechanisms for extension tables and our ergonomically designed chairs have received high acclaim globally for their ingenuity and comfort.

Since the establishment of Calligaris Japan in 2005, we have built a stable supply chain through direct container shipping from Italy, bringing premium Italian design to the Japanese market via major interior shops and department stores nationwide. Centered around our showroom in Aoyama, our mission goes beyond merely selling furniture; we aim to create and share a culture of enriched living. Never resting on our 100-year heritage, Calligaris Japan takes pride in constantly proposing new "shapes" of living for the modern era. We remain committed to craftsmanship and innovation.
