

Nihon Meso Skin Care Research Center

Company Description

Nihon Meso Skin Care Research Center Co., Ltd. is the Japanese subsidiary of Jida Meso Biotechnology Co., Ltd., a cosmetics manufacturer established with investment from Jinan University, a national university in China. The company is engaged in the integrated research and development, manufacturing, and wholesale distribution of skincare and cosmetic products.

We established our research base in Japan to support research and development based on Japan's advanced technologies and expertise in the cosmetics industry.

In Japan, we are developing a highly specialized R&D team and promoting basic research into the efficacy of new cosmetic ingredients, as well as the development of innovative skincare formulations.

By developing our own original formulations with a strong emphasis on safety and reliability, we aim to create high-quality skincare products and deliver them to markets. Leveraging Japan's strengths in technology and cosmetics expertise, we seek to contribute to society across Asia, particularly in China and other Asian markets.
