仕事内容

Role summary

As a Procurement Specialist, you are responsible for ensuring all tour products have cost-effective and quality accommodation solutions that are in line with each product's identity. You'll do this by negotiating contracts, managing relationships with suppliers, helping map team strategy, contributing to itinerary strategy, and managing budgets.

Core responsibilities

•Market expertise: Further foster your existing strong Japan market knowledge and expertise through constant networking and research, competition awareness, and industry insights

•Source, contract, & allocate: Identify, acquire, and allocate all services and suppliers for our groups in the Japan market. •Supplier relationship management: Maintain a positive and constructive relationship with existing and potential suppliers in the Japan market, in keeping with cross-product sourcing strategy

•Inventory management: Work closely with Inventory and relevant Production Specialists to tie operational needs to all products overall volume, itinerary strategy, and product development priorities

•Customer Experience: Work with the Production Specialist to balance cost and quality and achieve cross-product production requirements

•Budget & Cost control: Devise, monitor, and adhere to budgets

•Strategy creation: Analysis of market & industry trends, competition analysis & awareness, build a robust, scalable supplier portfolio, maximize chain relationships, collaborate across tours departments

•Safety & Quality Control: Ensure suppliers fulfill all safety and quality criteria

•Administrative: Ensure all contracts, allocations, invoices, and supplier updates are managed and that all safety and cost guidelines are adhered to

About EF Education First

At EF we believe that the world is better when people try to understand one another. Since 1965, we have helped millions of people see new places, experience new cultures, and learn new things about the world and about themselves. Our culturally immersive education programs—focused on language, travel, cultural exchange, and academics—turn dreams into international opportunities.

When you join EF, you join a multicultural and diverse community working across more than 600 schools and offices in 50 countries, all with one shared mission of opening the world through education. Whoever you are, whatever you are passionate about—we welcome you and want you to bring that to work every day. EF is proud to be an equal opportunity employer and we are committed to inclusion and belonging across race, ethnicity, gender, age, religion, caste, parental status, identity, experience and everything else that makes you unique. Founded in Sweden in 1965, EF has schools and offices around the world, including hubs in Boston, London, Mexico City, São Paulo, Shanghai, Stockholm, Zürich, and more.
