Job Description

In this role, you will support clients in transforming their organizational culture, defining behavioral codes, and driving change at the enterprise level. You will apply GRC (Governance, Risk, and Compliance) expertise to help shape strategy and implement sustainable transformation from a management perspective.

Client Details

Our client is a member firm of one of the world's largest accounting and consulting networks. It offers specialized advisory services in GRC (Governance, Risk, and Compliance) to major clients across both financial and non-financial sectors. The team provides broad, cross-industry project opportunities in a fast-paced environment that supports growth as a transformational consultant.

Description

- Consulting on corporate culture reform, conduct risk management, and behavioral code development
- Proposing improvements and redesigns of governance frameworks, compliance structures, and HR systems
- Conducting current state analysis, identifying challenges, and developing action plans through discussions with senior leadership
- Collaborating with internal expert teams to utilize data analytics and technology in project execution

- Contributing to service development, articles, and public speaking engagements related to industry trends, ESG, and purpose-driven transformation

Job Offer

- Opportunity to work in a global consultancy environment in the professional services industry.
- Comprehensive work-life balance benefits.
- Exposure to diverse and high-impact projects in Tokyo and internationally.
- A permanent role with opportunities for career growth and development.
