Job Description

About the job

We are looking for a talented Product Owner who is deeply immersed in the Japanese market who is capable of adapting and localizing global solutions to the expectations of Japanese players and studios, who can lead discovery with Japanese partners (AAA, midcore, and hypercasual), who understands the limitations and features of monetizations in Japan (carrier billing, convenience store payments, and cultural restrictions) who can work in conjunction with Sales and Success teams in the region, and who can form and prioritize a roadmap of solutions, features, and frameworks in demand by Japanese developers.

If you're passionate about driving business growth, supporting game developers, and expanding the reach of innovative gaming solutions, we would love to hear from you!

This role will be based out of our Japan office and is onsite.

Core Responsibilities

- Maintaining full-cycle ownership of Japanese products and adaptations of D2C solutions
- Product discovery with local partners
- Adapting features, interfaces, flow, and documentation to Japanese realities
- Collecting and processing user and business analytics for features, activities, A/B tests
- Building a link between the global Xsolla product strategy and the local ones realities
- Maintaining roadmap and product documentation in English and Japanese
- Working with Design, Success, Data and Engineering teams
