Job Description

Great opportunity for a Finance Manager to join a global minerals company in Tokyo. You'll support the Finance Director, enhance financial operations, and help shape strategic initiatives within a stable and experienced team. This role offers a competitive salary, hybrid work, and the chance to contribute to a business with a strong legacy in sustainability and innovation.

Client Details

Our client is an established global leader in mineral transformation, formed recently after a major acquisition in the paper market sector. The company benefits from decades of industry expertise and extensive operations across multiple regions. It manages some of the world's largest mineral reserves and offers a diverse portfolio of mineral-based products used in industries such as paper, ceramics, coatings, and sustainable construction. The company is committed to innovation and sustainability, providing advanced solutions that reduce environmental impact and support the shift toward eco-friendly materials.

Description

- Oversee monthly financial closing in accordance with JGAAP, in collaboration with the shared accounting team in Tokyo

- Prepare monthly IFRS reporting for global consolidation purposes
- Conduct weekly cash flow analysis and forecasting
- Support the FP&A team in developing management reports and performing financial analysis
- Coordinate with external tax advisors for annual tax filing preparations
- Assist the Finance Director in securing and executing external financing
- Prepare for external audits and tax inspections as needed
- Enhance and maintain internal controls and streamline operational workflows
- Lead system integration efforts between SAP and the consolidation platform (Hyperion-based)
- Supervise and mentor junior finance and accounting team members

Job Offer

- Competitive salary in market.
- A supportive workplace culture that encourages growth and development.
- Low turn over in the company
