Job Description

What You'll Do

As a Senior Analyst –You will work in a growing global team, providing sector expertise and insights whilst working together with case and proposal teams to provide knowledge assets, analysis, and expert advisory.

The firm's Public Sector Practice Area works with governments to create long-lasting, positive impact for citizens and society.

We do this by drawing on the firm's unmatched functional expertise, combined with our team's deep experience working with and for public sector organizations all over the world.

Specifically on the Climate Action, we focus on collaborating with governments on the net-zero transition and sustainable economic development. By building and providing expertise on topics relevant to climate action, sustainability, and decarbonization, you'll serve as a thought partner and content expert to case teams, sector leaders, and clients, helping solve complex and impactful issues.

You will support commercialization efforts for the sector, working in conjunction with business leaders, through contributing analysis and insights to proposals, client workshops and marketing materials. Additionally, as a Senior Analyst, you will contribute to developing intellectual property & assets for the business and assist in onboarding and training junior colleagues based on your sector expertise.

What You'll Bring

- 2+ years of consulting experience in climate action or public sector required; candidates with consulting experience strongly preferred
- In lieu of consulting experience, 3+ years minimum industry experience required; 4-6+ years of industry experience strongly preferred. Relevant industry experiences include:
- Climate transition: Experience with climate policy implementation in private and/or sector organizations, including emissions baselining, development of net-zero initiatives, and broader climate transformation efforts
- Net zero & decarbonization: Familiarity with key frameworks and experience with application in heavy industry
- Emissions trading: Experience with GX-ETS and broader GX scheme
- Bachelor's Degree required (advanced degree preferred)
- Fluency in English and Japanese

Who You'll Work With

As a Senior Analyst –You will collaborate with global topic leads and colleagues across the firm to bring expertise and capabilities to the service of our internal and external clients.
