Job Description

Company and Job Overview

Our client specializes in global trading of a wide range of products. As part of their business expansion, they are seeking a proactive and driven Sales Executive for their plastic division. This role will be based in Kuala Lumpur.

Job Responsibilities

- Promote resin materials to Malaysian manufacturers in food packaging, cutlery, and related industries
- Build and maintain strong customer relationships with local companies, providing tailored solutions and product recommendations
- Handle and explain extrusion machine parts during the initial phase, offering basic technical support to clients
- Transition into selling plastic products, especially those made from bio-plastics and other environmentally friendly materials
- Identify new business opportunities and conduct market research to support sales growth

Job Requirements

- 1-2 years of relevant experience in the resin and plastic industry, particularly in extrusion

- Experience in handling and selling plastic injection or extrusion machine barrels and screws, or other related components
- Familiarity with sustainable materials such as compostable, biomass, or recycled plastics is as added advantage
- Strong communication and negotiation skills.
- Willingness and ability to travel locally for client meetings and site visits
