Job Description

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Our client is a globally established technology and consumer electronics manufacturer with a long-standing heritage in engineering and product innovation.

JOB RESPONSIBILITIES

- Provide technical support and troubleshooting assistance, including conducting product training for distributors and service partners.
- Handle technical, warranty, spare parts, and service enquiries or complaints from end customers, distributors, dealers, and e-commerce platforms.

- Review and assess in-warranty claims, including preparation and submission of fault cost (F-Cost) reports.
- Monitor product quality issues and abnormal defects, prepare analysis reports, and coordinate corrective actions with the factory, warehouse, and distributors.
- Develop and prepare technical documentation such as training materials, service manuals, repair procedures, and parts guides for service teams and distributors.
- Manage defective unit exchange processes, including follow-up on repairs, inspection and grading of returned units by contractors, and coordination before return to warehouse.
- Handle COC renewals, as well as COC and WELS testing and registration for new products.
- Support distributors in conducting field tests and pilot runs for new product launches.
- Assist in the setup and continuous improvement of service operations and service centres for both local and export markets.

JOB REQUIREMENTS

- Diploma or higher qualification in Engineering or a related technical discipline.
- Minimum 2 years of relevant experience in after-sales service or service management within the consumer electronics industry.
- Strong technical knowledge of home appliances and audio-visual products.
- Good problem-solving and analytical skills with hands-on technical capability.
- Proficient in Microsoft Office applications and service documentation.
- Able to work independently and communicate effectively with internal teams, factories, and external partners.
