Job Description

Why should you apply:

- Take ownership of enterprise-wide BCM / ITSCM initiatives with direct visibility across the organization

- Play a key role in strengthening operational resilience for a globally recognized insurance business
- Work closely with international stakeholders across security, infrastructure, risk, and business functions
- Opportunity to lead crisis response planning, resilience testing, and strategic continuity programs—not just maintain existing processes
- Stable, mature environment with structured processes, realistic expectations, and strong work-life balance
- Hybrid working style with strong bilingual communication opportunities in both Japanese and English
- Exposure to large-scale regulatory and security standards in a highly business-critical environment
- Join a company investing continuously in operational resilience, governance, and long-term technology modernization

Responsibilities:

- Lead end-to-end Business Continuity Management (BCM) and IT Service Continuity Management (ITSCM) initiatives
- Develop and implement resilience strategies aligned with global standards and regulatory requirements
- Conduct Business Impact Analysis (BIA), risk assessments, and continuity planning
- Lead incident response planning, annual testing, and crisis management activities
- Collaborate with cross-functional stakeholders to strengthen operational resilience
- Drive BCM awareness, training, and governance improvements across the organization

Hiring Company Details:

A global insurance company operating across multiple regions worldwide, providing insurance and financial protection services to individuals and enterprises. The company is recognized for its strong international presence, operational stability, and focus on innovation, resilience, and customer protection.

Working Hours: 9:00 – 17:00 (Mon-Fri)

Working Style: Hybrid (50% Work From Home / 50% Office)
