Job Description

This is a senior advisory role focused on delivering strategic intelligence, commercial due diligence, and risk assessments for high-stakes client decisions. You will lead projects end-to-end, engage senior stakeholders, and help grow a high-potential Japan practice.

Client Details

This opportunity is with a large organization operating in the business services industry. The company is known for its structured approach to providing innovative solutions and fostering a professional work environment. Our client is a global strategic intelligence and advisory consulting firm with a strong international presence across key financial hubs. The firm supports private equity investors, multinational corporates, and institutional clients on complex decisions involving transactions, market entry, and regulatory risk.

Description

- Lead strategic intelligence and due diligence engagements for investment and corporate clients
- Define project strategy, research frameworks, and client deliverables
- Oversee intelligence gathering via expert networks and human-source insights
- Analyze commercial, regulatory, political, and reputational risks

- Produce and review high-quality written reports for senior stakeholders
- Present findings and recommendations directly to clients
- Manage client relationships throughout the full project lifecycle
- Mentor and develop junior consultants and analysts
- Support the growth and operational development of the Tokyo office
- Contribute to knowledge building and network development in Japan

Job Offer

- Competitive salary aligned with experience 10,000,000 JPY - 15,000,000
- Tokyo-based role with flexible working style
- Initial overseas training opportunity at London office
- Exposure to high-profile M&A, investment, and strategic advisory projects
- Close interaction with senior decision-makers and investors
- Opportunity to play a key role in building a growing Japan business
- Comprehensive benefits including insurance and leave support
- Relocation and visa support available where applicable

Required Skills

- ~5+ years of experience in consulting, investment banking, private equity, intelligence, or related advisory fields
- Strong project leadership and stakeholder management skills
- Excellent written communication, with experience producing structured reports
- Confident in client-facing presentations and discussions
- Strong commercial judgement and analytical thinking
- Experience mentoring or managing junior team members is advantageous
- Interest in investigative research and human intelligence gathering
- Knowledge of the Japan market and business environment preferred
- Fluent English required; Japanese language skills are beneficial but not essential
