Job Description

≪Position Overview & Highlights≫

- Lead Oracle HCM Cloud and PeopleSoft implementations from requirements definition through operations and maintenance
- Contribute to HR transformation by supporting the integration of global HR data, providing an opportunity to make a meaningful impact on clients' HR operations
- Opportunity to be involved in upstream processes and pre-sales, developing both HCM expertise and consulting capabilities
- 67.8% remote work ratio and 81.3% paid leave utilization rate, with extensive support for language learning and

babysitter subsidies

【Responsibilities】
As a subject-matter expert across business processes, product functionality, and project delivery, you will develop solutions and lead both clients and team members.
Working closely with Project Managers, you will be involved in upstream activities such as system planning, quality management for your assigned area, and pre-sales support, while contributing to project delivery from a broader perspective.

■Oracle HCM
Oracle Cloud HCM: A cloud-based ERP solution recognized by Gartner as a Leader in the Cloud HCM Suite market, enabling centralized management of all HR processes and data through a globally integrated database.
PeopleSoft: Oracle's traditional ERP solution. We are also involved in PeopleSoft implementations, which provide HR and payroll management capabilities while enabling integration with the talent management functionality of Oracle Cloud HCM.

※Notes Regarding These Positions
The responsibilities described above represent general responsibilities for these positions. Depending on your previous experience, you may have experience in some areas while having limited or no experience in others. For areas in which you have limited or no experience, training and skill development may be required and supported by our company.

Detailed responsibilities and expectations for each practice/title will be explained during the interview process.

Our Managers will also introduce the strategies of each practice, and we welcome any questions regarding the roles and responsibilities required to achieve the practice's vision.
