Job Description

Job Title: Management Associate (Mexico-based Rotation Program)

Location: Singapore - Central

Your New Company

Our client is a growing international energy infrastructure business involved in large-scale natural gas and energy projects. Operating in a fast-paced and entrepreneurial environment, the company plays a key role in supporting critical infrastructure developments and offers employees the opportunity to gain broad exposure across commercial, operational, financial, and strategic initiatives.

With a strong focus on growth and innovation, this is an excellent opportunity for individuals seeking international exposure, regional mobility, and the chance to work closely with senior leadership on high-impact business projects.

About the Role

This is an exciting opportunity for a highly motivated individual to work directly with senior leadership in a dynamic international business. As a Management Associate, you will support key initiatives across commercial, finance, operations, and administration functions while gaining hands-on exposure to strategic projects and business decision-making.

The role offers extensive learning opportunities, international exposure, and a clear pathway for career growth, including overseas assignments and cross-functional experience across multiple areas of the business.

Your New Role

- Support the General Manager in coordinating priorities, projects, and deliverables across multiple business functions.
- Liaise with internal stakeholders to track progress, follow up on action items, and ensure timely execution of key initiatives.
- Prepare management reports, presentations, meeting materials, and business updates for senior leadership.
- Consolidate and analyze operational, commercial, and financial information to support decision-making.
- Coordinate internal and external communications with business partners, vendors, customers, and advisors.
- Assist in reviewing contracts, proposals, quotations, procurement matters, and other commercial documentation.
- Conduct research, market analysis, and business evaluations to support new initiatives and strategic projects.
- Attend meetings, document key discussions, and monitor follow-up actions to ensure accountability.
- Support cross-functional projects and special assignments as directed by management.
- Travel regularly and undertake extended overseas assignments, particularly in Mexico during the structured training period.
- Work closely with regional and international teams to facilitate collaboration and resolve operational matters.
- Develop a broad understanding of the business, operations, and management processes to support future career progression within the organization.
- Perform additional responsibilities and projects as required by the business.

Key Qualifications for Success

- Bachelor's degree in Business, Finance, Accounting, Economics, Law, Engineering, or a related discipline.
- 1-3 years of professional experience preferred; outstanding fresh graduates are welcome to apply.
- Strong analytical, organizational, and problem-solving skills.
- Excellent communication and interpersonal skills, with strong written and spoken English.
- Spanish proficiency is an advantage, or a genuine willingness to learn.
- Proficient in Microsoft Excel, PowerPoint, and Word.
- Able to understand and interpret financial and commercial information.
- Comfortable working across multiple business functions in a dynamic environment.
- Willing to travel extensively and undertake extended overseas assignments in Mexico, with additional regional and international travel as required.
- Adaptable and able to work effectively across different cultures, time zones, and changing business priorities.
- Prior international exposure, project-based experience, or cross-cultural experience will be an advantage.
