Job Description

Join the Product team to lead the development of a next-gen internal system. You'll work cross-functionally with engineering, business, and commercial teams to define, build, and launch scalable products, while driving go-to-market strategy and expansion.

- Lead product planning for a customer management
- Conduct market & customer research to identify needs and pain points
- Collaborate with engineers, analysts, sales, marketing, and CS
- Drive product delivery from concept → launch
- Own GTM strategy and scale the product across the business
- Report to senior leadership and key stakeholders

If you know anybody who could be a good fit for the role, please feel free to refer them here until November 19th and earn 150,000JPY when we're able to place them.
