Job Description

About the role

The Site Project Manager will be responsible for leading and overseeing construction activities across large-scale development projects.

• Working location: Binh Duong

Responsibilities

• Manage on-site construction activities throughout the project lifecycle.

• Monitor project schedules, construction quality, and overall site performance.

• Coordinate with contractors, consultants, and project stakeholders to ensure smooth project execution.

• Identify and resolve project issues that may impact timeline, quality, or cost.

• Ensure construction works are carried out in accordance with approved designs, specifications, and applicable regulations.

• Support negotiations and coordination with contractors and external parties when required.

• Lead site teams and drive effective communication among all project stakeholders.

• Prepare and report project progress to management.

Requirements

• Minimum 10 years of experience in construction and site project management.

• Proven track record of managing multiple construction projects, preferably 10 projects or more.

• Strong experience in construction management, including schedule control and quality management.

• Experience working from a developer's perspective and involvement in contractor negotiations would be an advantage.

• Business-level English communication skills.

• Strong leadership, stakeholder management, and problem-solving skills.

• Ability to manage multiple priorities in a dynamic project environment. Benefits

• Competitive salary package, negotiable based on experience and qualifications.

• Opportunity to manage large-scale urban development and real estate projects.

• Collaborative and professional working environment.

• Long-term career development opportunities within a growing organisation.

About the company

A leading urban development and real estate organisation focused on delivering integrated residential, commercial, and community projects.
