募集要項

Job Title: Accountant (Costing)

Location: Singapore

About the Opportunity

My client is a global leader headquartered in Silicon Valley, specializing in high-performance electronic components that power a wide range of applications—from consumer electronics to renewable energy systems. Their technology supports energy-efficient solutions across industries such as mobile devices, computing, home appliances, industrial automation, and electric vehicles.

Key Responsibilities:

- Prepare and post month-end journal entries related to inventory and cost accounting
- Perform inventory reconciliation and generate reports including inventory turnover metrics

- Execute global standard cost roll-ups and updates within Oracle ERP
- Calculate and amortize capitalized variances, including related journal entries
- Prepare inventory reserve analyses and supporting documentation
- Participate in and manage cost and inventory-related Oracle system projects
- Address audit queries related to inventory and costing
- Conduct inventory and distributor audits (some travel required)
- Review and approve Discrepant Material Requisitions (DMRs)
- Manage zero-cost updates and bill of materials (BOM) cost roll-ups
- Oversee customer sample accruals
- Support potential future responsibilities in revenue recognition and accounts receivable

Qualifications:

- Degree in Accountancy with a professional qualification (CA or CMA preferred)
- 4–5 years of relevant experience in a manufacturing environment, ideally within high-tech or semiconductor sectors
- Strong background in cost accounting and inventory management
- Proficient in Microsoft Excel; experience with Oracle ERP is a strong advantage
- Familiarity with month-end close processes
- Exposure to other accounting functions such as general ledger, revenue, or A/R is a plus
