《Job Description & Position Highlights》

- Lead sales strategy, proposal development, closing support, and coaching for junior sales members
- Drive new market opportunities in cutting-edge Location Intelligence and make a significant business impact
- Collaborate with top talent, including former Google professionals, while gaining cutting-edge knowledge and skills
- Enjoy flexible working hours of approximately 10–18 hours per week with opportunities for long-term contract renewal

【Job Responsibilities】

We are in need of a Director of Sales Advisory to join us as an independent contractor to support our team in Tokyo, Japan. If you are an independent problem solver, have a strong drive to excel, and are looking for an opportunity to grow fast and to make a big impact, this is the right place for you.

< Your Role >

- Support the design and execution of sales strategies for referral- and inbound-driven opportunities.
- Review and improve proposal direction for existing opportunities, including issue clarification, proposal development, and closing strategy.
- Support customer communication and proposal processes, and provide improvement suggestions for new leads.
- Provide strategic input for collaboration with Google and other partners.
- Identify and provide insights on market opportunities in areas such as EV/mobility, disaster prevention, and logistics.
- Provide input to the business and product teams based on insights gained from customers and the market.
- Join the monthly sales meeting, catch up on sales status, and suggest improvement actions.
- Provide coaching and mentoring to younger sales members to help strengthen and elevate our solution sales function.

< Why Join Us >

- Highly flexible and Long Term environment. Our Executive Team is mostly comprised of Ex-Google. We work hard and have fun while doing it! We have an active international community. We also offer comprehensive benefits in all the countries we operate in.
- Our employees develop and support high-end solutions. Every day, we push technical boundaries to advance the field of Location Intelligence. We believe mapping is essential to the world and we are extremely dedicated when it comes to quality and performance.
- Learn from the BEST and make a difference. Our team is composed of some of the best engineers in the world. As a young dynamic company, the work you do will make a big difference. At Navagis, you will be surrounded by top talent who have years of experience in mapping and cloud infrastructure, deep learning, and more.

< About Us >
