募集要項

Main Responsibilities
Support the development and execution of the Japan Medical Plan, providing scientific input for medical content and contributing to cross-functional initiatives including regulatory interactions and lifecycle planning.

Lead and support medical communication activities ? including publication planning, congress and symposia participation, and advisory board presentations ? to advance scientific exchange with the medical community.

Build and nurture relationships with key opinion leaders and scientific societies, collecting and sharing medical insights to inform strategy and strengthen our presence in the therapeutic space.

Plan and execute company-sponsored clinical studies and externally sponsored research collaborations, including post-approval studies and Investigator-Sponsored Studies, to generate meaningful real-world evidence.

Analyze real-world data in collaboration with internal and external experts to deepen understanding of the disease space and support evidence-based decision-making.

Partner with Medical Science Liaisons and global medical teams to develop field strategies that address the evolving needs of healthcare professionals and patients.

Ensure all medical activities are conducted with the highest standards of scientific integrity and in full compliance with applicable regulations and guidelines.
