- Conduct market research and business development activities.
- Visit customers regularly and build strong business relationships.
- Understand customer requirements and propose suitable solutions.
- Coordinate with suppliers and internal teams throughout the sales process.
- Prepare quotations, proposals, and sales-related documents.
- Participate in exhibitions, trade shows, and industry networking events.
- Manage the entire sales cycle from prospecting to closing.

Qualifications:

- Bachelor’s degree in any field.
- Experience in B2B Sales, Technical Sales, Sales Engineering, Business Development, or related fields.
- Experience selling machinery, industrial equipment, packaging machinery, food processing equipment, automation systems, or related products.
- Experience in the Food Manufacturing, Food Processing, Packaging, or Manufacturing industry is an advantage.
- Production Engineers or candidates with a technical background who are interested in transitioning into sales are also welcome.
- Strong business development and customer acquisition skills.
- Comfortable with frequent customer visits and field sales activities.
- Good presentation, negotiation, and relationship-building skills.
- Proactive, self-motivated, and results-oriented.
- Must own a car.
- Intermediate level of English or above for reporting and communication with international colleagues.
- Preferred Product Experience: Packaging Machinery, Filling Machines, Inspection Equipment, Checkweighers, Metal Detectors, Factory Equipment, or other Industrial Machinery.
