Join an international financial services institution as a Market Operations Manager, leading a small team responsible for supporting banking and securities products in Tokyo.

This permanent opportunity offers an experienced financial markets operations professional the chance to oversee daily operational activities, manage a team and contribute to the effective delivery of banking and securities services.

The position focuses on market operations, securities operations, banking operations, transaction processing, operational controls, reconciliations and regulatory governance within an international financial institution.

You will be responsible for ensuring that daily market operations are completed accurately, efficiently and within agreed timelines, maintaining reliable operational processes across the products supported by the team.

A central part of the role involves monitoring operational controls, reconciliations and governance activities , identifying potential issues and supporting their effective resolution.

You will lead a small team of operations professionals, providing guidance, coaching and training to maintain strong operational standards and support the professional development of team members.

The role requires close collaboration with internal stakeholders, external business partners and regional colleagues , helping to deliver consistent and sustainable operational outcomes.

You will participate in regional initiatives involving new product launches, operational process improvements and regulatory implementation projects, contributing your knowledge of banking and securities operations.

Working within a highly regulated financial services environment, you will apply strong attention to detail and sound operational judgement to support accurate transaction processing and effective control procedures.

The position provides valuable exposure to senior management and regional teams , allowing you to contribute to operational discussions and initiatives beyond day-to-day processing activities.

As the leader of the Japan Market Operations team, you will balance hands-on operational oversight with people management, stakeholder coordination and continuous process improvement.

Strong Japanese-English bilingual communication skills are essential, as you will collaborate with colleagues and stakeholders across domestic and international financial markets.

The successful candidate will bring at least five years of experience in financial markets, securities, banking or related operations, alongside the ability to guide a team and manage operational priorities effectively.

Experience within an international financial institution will be particularly valuable, especially when coordinating with regional teams on operational change and regulatory projects.

The organisation offers a working environment with remote working options, flexible hours, minimal overtime, casual clothing and permission for side businesses, supporting a sustainable approach to professional and personal commitments.

This is an excellent opportunity for a Market Operations Manager, Securities Operations Manager, Banking Operations Manager or experienced Financial Markets Operations professional seeking a leadership role within an international financial services organisation in Tokyo.

Key Responsibilities

- Lead and oversee the daily activities of a Market Operations team supporting banking and securities products.
- Ensure financial market transactions are processed accurately, efficiently and within agreed operational timelines.
- Monitor operational controls, transaction reconciliations and governance procedures to maintain effective day-to-day operations.
- Identify operational issues and support their timely investigation, escalation and resolution.
- Maintain strong attention to operational accuracy, process reliability and control effectiveness in a regulated financial services environment.
- Build productive relationships with internal stakeholders, external counterparties and business partners .
- Collaborate with regional operations teams to support consistent and sustainable operational outcomes.
- Participate in projects relating to new financial product launches and associated operational requirements.
- Contribute to process improvement initiatives designed to enhance efficiency, accuracy and operational resilience.
- Support the implementation of regulatory changes and related operational requirements .
- Provide day-to-day leadership, guidance and operational support to team members.

- Develop team capabilities through coaching, training and knowledge-sharing activities.
- Coordinate operational priorities and support effective communication between local management and regional stakeholders.
- Maintain visibility of operational performance, outstanding issues and key priorities for relevant stakeholders.
- Contribute to a collaborative team culture focused on operational excellence, accountability and continuous improvement.
